Introduction to growth and growth functions

Jason Bell
Simon Fraser University

We give a survey of growth functions used in the study of groups and algebras. We mention, in particular, their connection to noncommutative projective geometry and highlight some of the main results in groups and algebras of low growth.