Surface subgroups from linear programming

Alden Walker
University of Chicago

We describe a combinatorial object which certifies that an HNN extension of a free group contains a surface subgroup. Our certificates can be found using linear programming, and we give a particular example which answers a question of Sapir. This is joint work with Danny Calegari.